Conditions

All forms submitted are subject to a compliance check before being approved or rejected. If the documentation or the information supplied is found to be either incorrect or non-compliant, the form will be rejected and sent back to your formbay account where you can resubmit the information at a later time.

If the form is found to be true and correct and has 100% compliance, then we will honour the price that was advertised to you at submission.

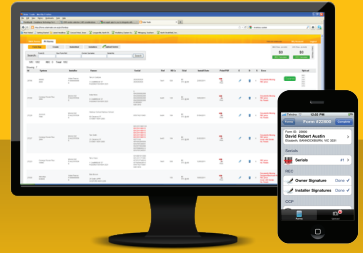

We will credit your account 14 days after submission.

If a form has been failed by the ORER and can not be resolved, then we will deduct from your account the originally credited, or in the case of no credit being available we will issue you an invoice for the amount outstanding. If it is found that a form is entitled to less STCs due to being an additional system then the difference will be deducted from your account.

All forms that have been allocated to a project need to be submitted by the agreed deadline, penalties may apply for late submissions.
